These license terms are an agreement between Microsoft Corporation (or based on where you are located, one of its affiliates) and you. Please read them. They apply to the software named above, which includes the media on which you received it, if any. The terms also apply to any Microsoft

- updates,
- supplements,
- Internet-based services, and
- support services

for this software, unless other terms accompany those items. If so, those terms apply. These license terms supersede the license terms embedded in the software.

By installing, having installed, or using the software, you accept these terms. If you do not accept them, do not install, have installed or use the software.

If you comply with these license terms, you have the rights below.

1. OVERVIEW.

- Software. The software may include
 - server software;
 - client software that can be installed on devices and used with the server software;
 - additional components that may be separately licensed; and
 - any fixes, patches or updates for the software.
- License Model. The software is licensed based on
 - the number of copies of system databases that you install;
 - the number of your users or devices that access the system database; and
 - additional components you license.

2. DEFINITIONS.

- "you" means the legal entity that has agreed to these license terms and your affiliates;
- "Affiliate" means any legal entity that owns, is owned by, or that is under common ownership with a party;
- "ownership" means more than 50% ownership;
- "client software" means the software that allows a single personal computer, workstation, terminal, handheld computer, personal digital assistant, or other electronic device ("device or devices") to access or use the server software or to use certain aspects of the server software when disconnected from the server; "server software" means the software that provides services or functionality on your server (your computers capable of running the server software are "servers");
- "system database" means the underlying database that controls your users and financial reporting units;
- "point of sale device" means one device, used by any user, to access your system database for the purpose of completing customer facing sales or services transactions;
- "business process outsourcing" means the contracting of a specific critical or non-critical business task, function or process to a third-party service provider, where (i) the services provided include direct or indirect access to the software, and (ii) the software license is not obtained directly from Microsoft; and

- “partner” means the partner that has signed a partner agreement with Microsoft authorizing the partner to market and distribute the software.

3. INSTALLATION AND USE RIGHTS.

- Server Software. You may install an unlimited number of copies of the server software to access your system database. However, you may only use the number of copies that your license key permits. You may not duplicate license keys without Microsoft’s prior written consent.
- Client Software. You may install an unlimited number of copies of the client software. However, you may use the client software only with the server software.
- Additional Components. You may install an unlimited number of copies of the additional components you have licensed for your system database. You must obtain a separate license for each system database if you wish to install an additional component for multiple system databases. You may not duplicate license keys without Microsoft’s express written consent. For additional information and license restrictions regarding additional components, see www.microsoft.com/dynamics/purchase/editionsandlicensing.mspx.
- Restrictions. You may use the software only for demonstration or internal evaluation purposes. You may not use the software in a live operating environment unless Microsoft permits you to do so under another agreement.

4. ADDITIONAL LICENSING REQUIREMENTS AND/OR USE RIGHTS.

- User Licenses. In addition to the server software license, you must acquire user licenses for the total number of users that access the system database directly or indirectly. User licenses are specific to a system database and may not be used with or shared among different system databases. You may license concurrent users, named users, device CALs or the external connector depending on the type of access to the system database that the user requires. For users that are your or your affiliates’ employees, contractors or agents, you must license concurrent users, named users and/or device CALs. For all other access to the system database, including access where no individual users are involved, you must license the external connector, concurrent users, named users or device CALs. The types of user licenses are,
 - “Concurrent users” are licenses that allow any individual to access the system database. The number of concurrent users licensed refers to the maximum number of individuals that may access the system database simultaneously;
 - “Named users” are licenses that are specific to individual users and may not be shared among individual users;
 - “Device Client Access Licenses (device CAL)” are licenses that permit one point of sale device, used by any user, to access the system database; and
 - “External connector” is a license that allows any third party user to access a single system database. “Third party users” are any concurrent user or named user that is not your or your affiliates’ employees, contractors or agents.

For additional information about the types of user licenses and the license restrictions regarding user licenses, see www.microsoft.com/dynamics/purchase/editionsandlicensing.mspx.

- Multiplexing. Hardware or software you use to
 - pool connections,
 - reroute information,
 - reduce the number of devices or users that directly access or use the software, or

- reduce the number of devices or users the software directly manages,
- (sometimes referred to as “multiplexing” or “pooling”), does not reduce the number of licenses you need.
- c. External Connector Licenses. You must assign each external connector license you acquire to a system database. Each external connector license assigned to a system database permits any number of third party users to access that system database. You do not need concurrent, named user or device CAL licenses for those users. You may not use the external connector for business process outsourcing purposes. However, you may use the software to provide business process outsourcing services to unaffiliated third parties provided that they do not access the software or system database.
 - d. Third Party Hosting. You may have a third party host the software on your behalf solely for access by you and your affiliates. You may not permit your third party hosting vendor to allow access to the software by unaffiliated third parties except as otherwise allowed through an external connector license. Your third party hosting vendor must agree to be bound by these terms.
 - e. License Grant for Templates. You may copy and use templates provided with the software and identified for such use in documents and projects that you create. You may distribute those documents and projects non-commercially.
 - f. Restrictions related to the use of Crystal Reports. If Crystal Reports Runtime Server is included in the software, you may not distribute the Crystal Reports Runtime Server component of the software (the “Runtime Component”) with any general-purpose report writing, data analysis or report delivery product or any other product that performs the same or similar functions as the Runtime Component. You may not use the Runtime Component to create for distribution a product that is generally competitive with Business Objects product offerings. You may not use the Runtime Component to create for distribution a product that converts the report file (.RPT) format to an alternative report file format used by any general-purpose report writing, data analysis or report delivery product that is not the property of Business Objects.
 - g. Modification Disclaimer. You may modify the software only as necessary to evaluate or demonstrate it for your internal business purposes if you received it in source code form or you or any third party acting on your behalf have licensed tools from Microsoft that allow you or that third party acting on your behalf to modify the object code form. You agree that Microsoft is not responsible for any problems that result from modifications made by you, a partner, or any other third party acting on your behalf, or any problems that are caused by third party hardware or software. Microsoft does not, and will not have any obligation to, provide technical or other support for any modifications made by you, a partner or any other third party. Microsoft does not make any representation, endorsement, guaranty or assurance of the suitability of the software for your business, the suitability of the partner or any other third party to create modifications or to implement the modifications or the software, or that any modification created, implemented, supported and/or serviced by, for or on behalf of you or any third party will meet your business needs or operate successfully with the software.
